Reaching our packaging goal

No more plastic and styrofoam!

'Two years ago, we made a commitment to our customers — retailers and consumers — that 100% of new Willow Tree production would be in recyclable or compostable packaging by year-end 2024.

We've spent this time experimenting with materials in a rapidly developing field and have made significant changes that I hope you're seeing, and have more planned for 2026.

We've converted to recyclable tissue wrapped around figures instead of plastic baggies. Product is protected from breakage with paper pulp or cardboard inserts. The overall presentation is cleaner and prettier!

Moving forward, we will continue to search out new materials that are cost-effective, protective and better for our world.'

NOTE: You may still receive product packaged in older materials until all back inventory is depleted and replaced with new production.

Thanks for your patience!

Brand new for 2026

We are delighted to introduce to you our brand new pieces for 2026.

Continuing our line of figurative sculptures that speak in quiet ways to heal, comfort, protect and inspire.

Artist Susan Lordi hand carves the original of each figure from her studio in Kansas City, Missouri. Pieces are cast from her original carvings, and individually painted by hand. Expression is revealed through gestures only...a tilt of the head, placement of the hands, a turn of the body.

The simplicity of form and absence of facial features signify Willow Tree. It is Susan's hope that these pieces be meaningful to both the giver and receiver.

Bright hopes and possibilities

Time Together

I love our time together

'I wanted to capture the time when a tween and her mother develop little traditions and rituals together — before activities and friends take center focus. I carved movement into their gesture so it appears they are walking together, then pausing to engage, maybe share a little inside joke...

It's a time when a daughter thrives on her mum's attention and wants to tell her everything. Her personality is forming, and their relationship shifts. They are mother and daughter, but also close friends. It's really about the time spent together — not the activity — that is so precious, and enriches their ongoing relationship.'

Keepsake (Darker skin and hair)

Kept forever in the heart

'I think of Keepsake as a remembrance piece. We keep those we love safe within us forever, no matter where they are. The gold symbolises preciousness — a sacred place in our heart.'

Susan

Now available with darker skin tone and hair colour, Keepsake is an expression of caring... a gift to show love, comfort, sympathy and healing.

Littlest Christmas Angel

In awe and wonder...

'I wanted to create a piece that could add some sparkle and drama to the Christmas nativity story... This little angel approaches the scene with her hands raised to her face as she looks on with awe and wonder.'

I wove gold leaf throughout her hair to suggest a halo and added gold to her sleeves to enhance her gesture. Her title is an affectionate reference to childlike awe at Christmas time.'

Susan

Littlest Christmas Angel can be added to the Nativity Collection as an additional angel, or be part of Christmas décor with other figures of hope and wonder.
